Arias Law, through its team in Guatemala, has counselled Grupo Holcim on the majority acquisition of the company Minerales y Agregados.

The advice involved the corresponding pre-acquisition reviews, as well as the preparation and negotiation of the acquisition documents, and other related documents. In addition, advice was provided and co-ordinated the closing of the transaction, including post-closing actions.

This strategic decision reinforces Grupo Holcim's leadership in Latin America and the world, as well as its commitment to innovation and sustainability in the construction sector.

Minerales y Agregados is a company specialised in the production and commercialisation of mortars, adhesives and calcium carbonate solutions in Guatemala.
