ECIJA Colombia has announced its integration with Bedoya Goyes Abogados, incorporating a new office in Bogotá specialising in tax and fiscal law.

Bedoya Goyes is one of the leading firms in the Colombian market in tax, foreign exchange and related litigation. This integration will allow ECIJA's clients in Colombia to have access to additional advice on these matters, in addition to the areas of competition law, corporate and labour law, technology, entertainment, telecommunications, and real estate.

Bedoya Goyes, led by David Bedoya, is formed by a total of three partners and has more than 10 years of presence in the Colombian market. It stands out as a boutique firm in its areas of expertise, providing comprehensive and highly specialised advice to its clients.

David Bedoya (pictured left), Managing Partner of Bedoya Goyes, commented: "We are very excited about this integration, which will allow us to make a quantitative and qualitative leap in our advisory services in tax and transactional matters."

For his part, Pablo Márquez (pictured centre), managing partner of ECIJA Colombia, mentioned: "The integration with Bedoya Goyes is a further step in the consolidation of ECIJA Colombia as a comprehensive firm."

"Latin America has been and is a priority for the Firm. With the consolidation of the project in Colombia we continue to take steps to position ourselves in one of the most important legal markets in the region," added Hugo Écija (pictured right), founding partner and executive chairman of the firm.
