

DENTONS HIRES ENERGY LAWYERS FROM NORTON ROSE IN COLOMBIA

Posted on 26 October 2017

Category: News

Polycentric legal giant Dentons announced that partners Jorge Neher, Hernán Rodríguez and Santiago González have joined its Colombian member firm.

The partners, together with 2 associates, arrived from the Bogotá office of Norton Rose Fulbright. The team is set to strengthen the mining, energy and oil & gas practice group at Dentons Cárdenas & Cárdenas. The lawyers are also experienced in M&A, financings, restructuring, investment disputes and regulatory matters related to mining and oil & gas matters in Colombia and have expertise in projects in Venezuela, Peru, Colombia, Ecuador, Argentina and other countries of Latin America.

Bernardo Cárdenas, managing partner of the Colombian firm, commented: "we are very excited with Jorge, Hernán, Santiago and their group joining our firm. They bring a wealth of talent and expertise in a sector which will be vital in the coming years."