

DLA PIPER RESTRUCTURES ITS RELATIONSHIP WITH VENEZUELAN LAW FIRM

Posted on 30 March 2016

Category: News

DLA Piper has restructured its relationship with DLA InterJuris in Venezuela. The two law firms had been in an alliance since 2011.

In a statement the global law firm stated that DLA Interjuris will no longer function as a DLA Piper relationship firm and will now operate as Interjuris.

The statement added that DLA Piper will continue to engage the services of the InterJuris team in Caracas led by Juan Jose Delgado Alvarez, Maria Cecilia Rachadell and Gabriela Rachadell de Delgado who will remain foreign legal consultants for the multinational law firm.