Estudio Echecopar, associated with Baker & McKenzie International, has assisted Stracon Technologies in the acquisition of a 100% stake in Deep Pit Technology, a Peruvian startup dedicated to the development of artificial intelligence (AI) software for the mining industry.

Stracon Tech, a subsidiary of Stracon, a portfolio company of Ashmore Group, started operations in November 2021 and this acquisition is part of its goal to contribute to the digital transformation of mining companies.

Echecopar's team was composed of partner Paolo Robilliard (pictured) and associate Luis Enrique Baca.
