Ferrere, through its team in Uruguay, has represented Agroenfoque in the sale of 70% of its shares to the IBF I trust, a local investment fund.

This transaction was carried out with the objective of ensuring the continuity and growth of the company, as well as the consolidation of the brand, both locally and internationally.

The advice included assistance to the seller in the preliminary documents, in the due diligence, and in all documents related to the closing of the transaction.

As part of the deal, José Luis Orrico Etcheverry, founder of Agroenfoque, retains the real estate assets linked to the business, and the remaining 30% of shares.

Agroenfoque is a Uruguayan company created in 2002, dedicated to the import and local production of agricultural inputs for the domestic and foreign markets.
