The Managua team of Central American law firm García & Bodán advised Cargill on the development and implementation of a solar power plant in Nicaragua.

Cargill is a global food conglomerate headquartered in the US. The company operates in 70 countries and has a presence in Nicaragua since 2000 where it employs over 2000 staff.

The solar power plant project, valued at $1 million, is part of the company's drive to use renewable energy for its operations.

Partner Carlos Téllez led the García & Bodán team advising Cargill.
