Kennedys' Miami office has recruited US-qualified lawyer Neil Bayer – who joins from Gray Robinson – as a partner.

Kennedys' Miami office was established in 2010 with the aim of advising clients on the management of insurance claims – as well as non-contentious issues – arising in Latin America and the Caribbean.

Alex Guillamont, the partner who heads Kennedy's Miami office, said: "I am delighted to welcome Neil to Kennedys. His experience with clients and insurance issues will really help to strengthen our presence here in Miami, providing clients with seamless advice across key insurance markets, including the US.

"The growth of our practice in Miami has reached an optimum size to support Latin America and the Caribbean, and our London Market clients. Looking ahead, we will see further developments for Kennedys in local jurisdictions across Latin America and we're excited about organically growing our US capability through our first partner appointment."
