Nader, Hayaux & Goebel has added Federico Vergara, José Manuel Zavala and Gabriel González as of counsels to the firm

Nader, Hayaux & Goebel has announced the incorporation of Federico Vergara, José Manuel Zavala and Gabriel González as of counsels of the firm.

Federico Vergara (pictured left) holds a law degree from Escuela Libre de Derecho and a master's degree in financial and securities regulation from Georgetown University. He has extensive experience in Banking and Finance Law, cross-border real estate and asset finance, structural finance, mergers and acquisitions, private equity, project finance and Corporate and Commercial Law. Prior to joining NHG, he worked as an international associate in the New York office of Paul Hastings LLP, and was an associate at Galicia Abogados and González Calvillo.

José Manuel Zavala (pictured centre) holds a law degree from Universidad Iberoamericana, an LL.M. from Columbia University School of Law and a postgraduate degree in Securities and Real Estate Law from Escuela Libre de Derecho. His practice focuses on corporate and transactional law, advising public and private companies on mergers, acquisitions, joint ventures, private equity and corporate governance, as well as participating in financings, securitizations and securities offerings, and real estate transactions.

Gabriel González (pictured right) specialises in antitrust. He holds a law degree from the Universidad Iberoamericana, a Master in Business Law from the Universidad Autónoma de Madrid and completed his doctorate studies at the same institution, a diploma in European Competition Law from Kings College London and a diploma in Economic Competition from Universidad Iberoamericana. He has advised multiple clients in merger notification proceedings, cartel and abuse of dominance investigations, leniency applications, cross-ownership rulings and public bids, as well as trial-type proceedings and indirect injunction actions. He was director of investigations at the Mexican Federal Competition Commission, and is currently a member of the International Chamber of Commerce. He is professor of Competition Law at the Universidad Iberoamericana and director of the Diploma in Competition Law at Tirant lo Blanc.
