The Schneider, Pugliese law firm has completed 15 years of activities and will celebrate this moment in its new headquarters on Avenida Paulista. Together with the return of face-to-face activities after the pandemic, the new office reaffirms the focus on the client and professionals, and represents all the values practiced by the office and its new stage of culture 4.0.

With a hybrid work system, the new headquarters has an open space environment, which according to Diogo de Andrade Figueiredo, partner of the office, will allow the free circulation of employees, with free workstations, facilitating the exchange of ideas and movement throughout the day. A green and more open-air space was also strategically thought out. On this balcony, people will be able to work, carry out activities, and a cozy and calm environment.

The new headquarters is located at Avenida Paulista, 238, 4th floor. São Paulo
